

Wilson Finds No Desire To Analyze Treaty, But Impatience To Get It Out Of Way

ROUTE TO ST. PAUL, MINN.
President Wilson did not make much of an impression at St. Paul. His audience was interested in his argument but much of Mr. Wilson's speech was lost in the noise of the crowd shouting and cheering. It seemed more like Columbus, Ohio, than any other place visited. Little of the cheering was for Wilson. The cheering was for the League of Nations. Wilson was not a candidate in 1912 and again when he visited Omaha on his preparatory tour in February 1916 didn't arouse the same fervor this time. One of those whose newspaper admires Mr. Wilson and who is himself a supporter of the League of Nations was the opinion that the President's subject didn't interest the people very much and that try as Mr. Wilson might to make them think a world crisis was on they believed the war ended last November and that the process of understanding in Europe would in due course rehabilitate the continent. It was everywhere a disinclination to analyze the treaty, but an impatience to get it out of the way. Practically the same viewpoint of the impatience of the people was given by some leading Republicans. They couldn't understand the Senate's pro-testation. "We're with Wilson on this issue but what you're not with Wilson—and if he runs again he won't get Democratic support either," was the way they expressed it. Again and again an undercurrent of political apprehension is encountered among Republicans who hesitate to endorse Mr. Wilson's journey or lend themselves to the processes of persuasion which would help get the treaty ratified because they somehow believe they may shatter a precedent and run for a third term. Those who think the League issue will be out of the way in a few months go ahead in confident support of the League, feeling that they will have plenty of time to show their constituents that they have not swallowed Wilsonian hook, bait and shiner, just because they want to see the League of Nations established.

I was told by a Democrat of national prominence in Iowa that most of the Republicans who voted for Mr. Wilson in 1916 had gone back to the fold and that mistakes in Washington had turned away some staunch Democrats. It is true that Republicans predominate the reception committees as Mr. Wilson moved westward and he helps to relieve those individuals of (Continued on Page Six)

Peace Treaty Reported To Senate With Four Reservations And Forty-Five Amendments

Called An Alliance And Not A League

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 10.—Characterized as an alliance and not a League which "will breed wars instead of securing peace," the German peace treaty including the covenant for a League of Nations was formally reported to the Senate today by the foreign relations committee with 45 amendments and four reservations. It will be the first great document of this kind to be discussed in the open—without the confines of "executive session."

Accompanying the treaty was the majority report of the foreign relations committee submitted to by every Republican member excepting Senator McCumber, of North Dakota, explaining the amendments and reservations all of which, it was declared, were "covered by a single purpose and that is to guard American rights and sovereignty, the invasion of which would constitute breaches of faith, encourage conflicts and generate wars."

The reservations proposed:

1. Unconditional right to withdraw from the League.
2. Declaration by the United States to accept any of the legal or moral obligations of the treaty discussed in Article 10, or to accept any territory from the League except by action of the Congress of the United States.
3. Reserving to the United States the exclusive right to decide what questions are within its own domestic jurisdiction.
4. Absolute reservation of the Monroe doctrine to the judgment of the United States alone.

The principal amendments are proposed to provide:

1. Equal voting power for Great Britain in the assembly of the League.
2. Giving to China instead of Japan the province of Shantung.
3. Relief of the United States from having representatives on commissions deciding matters in which it has no concern.
4. Others concerning phraseology.

These amendments and reservations, the majority report says, are submitted to preserve American independence and American sovereignty and thereby best serve the welfare of mankind." (Continued on Page Five)

Germany's Only Chance For Victory In 1918 Lay In Attack On West Front

"The American danger"—that is what haunted General Ludendorff as he planned the great offensive of 1918. He had to try to force Britain and France to their knees before Americans could arrive. It was a desperate gamble to attempt in a few months to smash armies that had fought him to a standstill for years. Yet he had to chance it. Austria, Bulgaria and Turkey were on the point of collapse and only a great German victory could hold them in line. His own army was disintegrating. It could not be trusted to carry on a defensive campaign. He had to raise it by an offensive. He could lose no time in starting.

These revelations made in the fourth instalment of General Ludendorff's book, "My Thoughts and Actions," printed below.

In January, 1918, Outlook Favorable To Germany; Russia Had Fallen, and Germany Had Numerical Superiority; but She Feared America.

CONDITION OF GERMANY AND HER ALLIES CALLED FOR QUICK DECISION

By GEN. ERICH LUDENDORFF

OWING to the breakdown of Russia the military situation was more favorable to us at New Year, 1918, than one could ever have expected. As in 1914 and 1915, we could think of deciding the war by an attack on land. Numerically we had never been so strong in comparison with our enemies. The American danger rendered it desirable to strike in the west as early as possible; the state of training of the Army for an attack enabled us to contemplate doing so about the middle of March. At that season too, horses would find some grazing, which, in view of the shortage of forage, was a necessary provision. The submarine war had not up to date produced those economic results which the Chief of the Naval Staff had expected, and which I, relying on the opinions of the experts, had hoped for. I had continued to take an interest in the problem of providing submarines in spite of Naval assurances that everything possible was being done. I actually received letters from Reichstag Members, who informed me that more could be

Boston At Mercy Of Criminals And Thieves

BOSTON, Sept. 10.—Governor Coolidge early this afternoon called out the Fourth Brigade of the state guards made up of the 11th, 12th and 15th regiments and the machine gun company of the 11th regiment. The troops were ordered to report to Mayor Peters forthwith.

BOSTON, Sept. 10.—A strike of the city firemen is threatened, President Daniel Leoney, of the firemen's union, said today that the firemen believed the police union should exist and "what labor demands of us we will deliver."

BOSTON, Sept. 10.—Lawlessness was rampant in Boston today. Without adequate police protection private citizens were left to their own resources to protect their lives and property. Since the police strike at 5:15 yesterday afternoon, there has been no organized police power able to cope with the situation that last night approached anarchy and today appeared to grow more serious as the ineffectuality of the makeshift arrangements intended to preserve public order, became obvious to the criminality inclined. At 11:15 a. m. today the state guard had not been called out, and so far as could be learned only a handful of higher officers in the police department and an indefinite number of volunteers were making an effort to prevent disorder.

Last night the city was virtually abandoned to the hoodlums and criminals. For some reason not publicly explained, the volunteer force which it had been expected would go on duty when the police quit, was not called out until this morning. The banks and larger mercantile establishments, which in their number all elements from the purely mischievous to the downright criminal, store windows, to a number estimated at 300, were smashed in and goods by the armful carried away. Police Superintendent Crowley placed the damage done during the night at $500,000.

PREDICT CUT

CHICAGO, Sept. 10.—Delegates to the convention of the National Association of Retail Clothiers here today predicted a reduction in the price of clothing in the near future.

"It's got to come," said Fred Lery, of Louisville. "Lower prices are on the way and we fellows will sing the loudest when the change comes."

"Men can't be induced to part with $75 or $50 for a business suit. The principal reason for the present high prices is the cost of labor."

The opening session today was attended by 500 merchants from every state in the union.

Triumphal Climax Of War-Time Parades

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—With Pershing leading at their head and with the cross of war twinkling on their helmets, the first division regulars marched down Fifth avenue today. Their colors of three regiments of infantry were twined with the four-colors of France, symbol of gallantry and on the breasts of hundreds of marchers were the gay ribbons betokening medals bestowed for heroism.

It was the crowning military spectacle of the world war for New York and it was unique in American annals. Behind the staidstarch doughboys, their bayonets gleaming, rimmed field artillery of every type and lack of the guns came the divisional trains. In the surging swinging rhythmic stream which poured down the avenue were 25,000 men, full panopied for battle, the flower of the American army, the peers of any soldiers in the world. At the head of the five mile line rode the commander of all the soldiers under the stars and stripes. Behind him as a guard of honor swung "Pershing's own," the composite regiment of six foot infantrymen who had followed him through the flag-decked streets of foreign capitals.

President Asked To Secure Conference With Steel Magnates Soon

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 10.—President Wilson has been asked by representatives of the United States Steel Corporation to call a conference with the steel magnates soon.

The conference here will remain in session 48 hours awaiting a reply before taking any action. It was not indicated what action would be taken if the union men considered the president's reply unfavorable.

Conditions in the steel industry were said to be becoming steadily worse and the union officers declared it would be impossible to restrain their men much longer.

Noted Labor Leader Dead

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—John Mitchell, former president of the United Mine Workers of America and one of the most widely known labor leaders in the United States died at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the Post-graduate hospital.

Mr. Mitchell was 49 years old. Although he underwent an operation two days ago for the removal of gall stones his condition had been reported satisfactory and his death was unexpected.

With Mr. Mitchell when he died were his wife, daughter and son, Governor Smith, who had called to

Veterans Of Four U.S. Wars In Victory Parade

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 10.—Mighty warriors of four American wars today joined in the victory parade of the Grand Army of the Republic, which is holding its national encampment here.

G. A. R. officials said it was the biggest parade of civil war veterans in the past decade.

Never before had the "boys of '61" invited veterans of other wars to march with them in their annual parade.

In the line of marchers were several aged Mexican war veterans, riding in automobiles. Hundreds of civil war veterans also rode in machines, but thousands of those marched proudly behind their flags and life and drum corps. Heroes of the Spanish-American and European wars, and of the opportunity of doing homage to the fast disappearing ranks of civil war fighters, paraded behind the battle flags they carried on the fields of Europe.

The veterans marched from June months who served in France to the grizzled veterans, many of whom have passed the allotted four score.

Austria Sign Treaty

DID NOT SIGN TREATY

PARIS, Sept. 10.—The delegates of Rumania and Yugoslavia did not sign the Austrian treaty today because they are awaiting instructions from their governments, says the Havas agency.

The supreme council, it adds, has given them until Saturday to make known their definite intentions.

Strike Ends

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 10.—Clearance of arbitration obstacles between striking linemen of the Columbus Edison Power and Light Company and company officials yesterday resulted in the termination of the walk-out which has been in effect since August 15.

Linemen returned to work shortly after midnight, last night, while the remainder of the strikers were on the job early this morning.

Representatives of the linemen in conference with the company officials signed a contract in which all points of issue were left to an arbitration board, formation of which will be completed within 10 days. Appointment of an arbitrator to represent the linemen is in the hands of a consultant.

Ohio State Telephone Company's linemen and operators at a similar meeting last night voted, however, to continue their strike which started four weeks ago.

Belgium--And The Selection Of Geneva As Seat Of League

BY FRANK H. SIMONDS

(Copyright, by McClure Syndicate)

The announcement from Paris that the Peace conference is considering changing the seat of the League of Nations from Geneva to Brussels serves to recall one of the most unpopular things done by the United States in the whole progress of peace negotiations. The more itself also suggests that at last there has been a change of mind in American quarters.

Belgium, cause to Paris to ask certain indignities, the justice of which no one could deny. Certain territorial questions which in exact were impossible to grant. Finally she asked the Peace Conference to make Brussels the seat of the new League of Nations, and the request was instantly approved in almost every quarter save the American.

The reasons why Belgium should be the nation and Brussels the capital in which the League of Nations would be established, the invasion of Belgium had constituted the most conspicuous single feature of international law and discipline which the Germans, while Belgian resistance, exaggerated on the military side so far as its efforts were concerned, could not be overvalued on the moral side. The undoing of Germany undoubtedly began with the Belgian episode. After the brief resistance, the Belgians endured the long occupation, without yielding to German force or to German intrigues. The passive resistance which Alsace Lorraine had offered to Germany for nearly half a century was repeated in all of Belgium, and the whole world was impressed by the spectacle of a conquered nation day by day and week by week asserting its independence, repulsing with scorn every clumsy effort of cooption and outwitting by superior intellect the equally clumsy endeavor to conquer the will and the mind by mere brute force.

The Belgian claim then rested upon a solid foundation. Belgium had been the supreme moral issue of the war. She had sacrificed herself to a principle. Moreover she had been fortunate to possess a king who was on the whole the noblest single figure in the war. Had he chosen to advise his people to permit the Germans to pass through Belgium unopposed, it is almost impossible to believe that there would have been any resistance. It was his spirit which animated the small but useful Belgian army at all times. It was his spirit which sustained the Belgian people in slavery, and his presence on the Allied side, from the beginning to the end of the war, supplied a moral contribution of incalculable value. When Belgium therefore asked that Brussels might be the seat of the League of Nations, when at least King Albert himself made the request, it was a plea for a single objective. Brussels would have been named, apart from the sentimental reason that there were practical reasons why the Belgian capital was far more useful than the Swiss city. Brussels to only a few hours from Paris and London and almost, if not quite equidistant. It is nearer to many hours to Berlin, and through it pass many of the trunk line railroads, which serve Europe. On the eastern side the facilities of telegraph and of communication easily surpass anything Geneva has or could possibly have. Material arguments only less impressive than sentimental sustained the Belgian contention.

But President Wilson went to Paris resolved that the League of Nations headquarters should be at Geneva and in no single discussion has he been so much and so deeply moved and so single objective. resolutely and unshakably insisted upon Geneva. What his reasons were the public do not know. It was conjectured that he felt that it would be impossible to establish the League of Nations in any country which had been a belligerent during the war. It is probable that he believed that the Germans would be more willing to go to a neutral than to an enemy nation, that they would be more kindly received in Switzerland than in Belgium, and that a neutral atmosphere would be more advantageous for the League.

In this opposing Belgium, however, which served Europe. On the eastern side the facilities of telegraph and of communication easily surpass anything Geneva has or could possibly have. Material arguments only less impressive than sentimental sustained the Belgian contention.

BOYERS GIVEN 30 DAYS TO COMPLY WITH ORDERS OF HEALTH BOARD; LABOLD AGREES TO RESIGN

A tilt with Mrs. Oscar Boyer ended the proceedings at the meeting of the Board of Health yesterday afternoon. Mr. Boyer had been cited to appear and explain why he had not complied with the board's orders to abate alleged nuisances at his property, Fifteenth and Waller streets, and Mrs. Boyer appeared instead of her husband. At the outset she declared they were being discriminated against by the health officials, particularly W. W. Watrous, the plumbing inspector, and she threatened to force her tenants to move and let the houses stand vacant rather than go to the expense of putting in the plumbing exacted by the order.

This statement brought Mayor Kaps, who presided at the meeting, to his feet, and he asserted that the Boyers only do what they are forced to do in the way of making any sort of improvements, and he charged that their threat to vacate the houses was only spite work, and a slap at the board. He said it was a matter of the board either backing up their inspector or letting the Boyers continue violating the health laws. The board decided after a lengthy discussion that ample time had been given to make the improvements but was willing to extend the time 30 days provided the Boyers would comply with the orders and Mrs. Boyer finally, but reluctantly, agreed to this arrangement.

Others cited before the board for failure to abate alleged nuisances in the way of foul vaults, included W. J. Gims, Thomas J. Basham and Charles Meadows. They made satisfactory explanations and all were given an extension of time to comply with the board's orders.

Two others failed to appear in response to notices, and the plumbing inspector was instructed to file charges against them.

Member Dan Labold threw a surprise into those present when he offered to resign in favor of Dr. G. G. Locke in order to give him an opportunity to become familiar with the work of the health board before taking his seat as a member of the recently organized county health board. In response to a query Mayor Kaps said he would accept the resignation of Mr. Labold if Dr. Locke would accept the appointment and Edward S. Gillman was appointed to wait upon Dr. Locke and ascertain if he will accept.

A resolution, proposed by the plumbing inspector, amending the health rules relating to sanitation and water supply, was adopted. The resolution follows: "In every dwelling house, flat or store room, where public water mains are reasonably accessible, such building shall be provided with a proper sink or basin, for each tenant therein, with running water inside of the building, and when such water mains are not accessible, such building shall have other water suitable for all domestic use, supplied either within the building or within 12 feet there-

According to the mortality report submitted by Clerk John Bennett, there were 23 deaths in this city during August and of these 12 were males and 11 females.

Health Officer Dr. W. W. Smith reported the general health conditions of the city good. In regard to an inspection made of the school buildings of the city the health officer said, "In justice to the members of the board of education and the janitors of the various buildings, I am pleased to be able to report all the buildings in good condition. In fact, a decided improvement over any previous inspection."

"While the work has not been completed in all the buildings, it seems to be progressing without in any way interfering with the schools."

There was reported to the health department during August, contagious diseases as follows: Scarlet fever, 5; diphtheria, 1; typhoid fever, 6; pulmonary tuberculosis, 2.

The plumbing inspector reported total collections of $215.75 for last month and after allowing the schedule of $278.05, the board adjourned.

OLDEST AND BEST BLOOD PURIFIER

Time Makes No Mistakes

We have never claimed that S. S. S. was a medicine to work wonders, nor one that would cure every physical ailment or disorder. More than fifty years ago it was placed on the market and recommended as a blood purifier, and today, after a long and successful career, and when its use has become almost universal, only the same honest claim is made for it—that it will relieve those diseases and disorders arising from an impoverished condition of the blood. Time makes no mistakes and the very best recommendation of S. S. S. is the fact that it has stood a long test and is now more generally used than ever before, and has the confidence, we believe, of a greater number of people than any other blood medicine.

The blood is the most vital force of life; every organ, nerve, muscle, tissue and sinew of the body is dependent on it for nourishment and strength, and as it circulates through the system, pure and rich, it furnishes these different members the healthful properties needed to preserve them and enable them to perform their various duties. So long as the blood remains free from infection, we are apt to escape disease, but any impurity, humor or poison acts injuriously on the system and affects the general health.

Postural eruptions, pimples, rashes, and the various skin affections, show that the blood is in a feverish condition as a result of some humor, or the presence of an irritating, fiery acid. Rheumatism, Catarrh, Sores and Ulcers, Scrofula and similar blood disorders will continue to grow worse as long as the cause remains. A disordered condition of the blood may come from various causes, such as a sluggish condition of the system, imperfect bowel and kidney action, indigestion, etc., but whatever the cause, the blood must be purified before the body can be healthy.

S. S. S. is a natural blood purifier and tonic. It is made entirely of the harmless juices and extracts of roots, herbs and barks of recognized medicinal value, and being free from all harmful minerals is an absolutely safe medicine for young or old. S. S. S. goes into the circulation. It freshens and enriches the blood and will do for you what it has done for thousands of others. S. S. S. is the most reliable and at the same time a most pleasant acting medicine for those whose blood has become impoverished and needs building up.

A course of S. S. S. will prove to you its great efficacy, as it has in numerous other cases which have been reported to us by grateful patients.

Do not continue to suffer because of wrong treatment, but go to your drug store and commence taking S. S. S. today.

Also write fully to our head physician, who will give you full instructions about your own case.

A National Problem Solved

Pure, Wholesome Food + Nujol = Health

PURE, wholesome food is necessary, but it is not enough. The purest, most wholesome food will hinder rather than help health if allowed to clog the colon—the large intestine. And doctors agree that about 90% of our ailments are caused or intensified by constipation.

Some part of even the purest and most wholesome food is waste. If this waste is not kept moving out of the body, it stagnates and breeds poisons which saturate the system and cause or nourish disease.

The old, wrong way to attack such stagnation was to force a passage through the impacted mass.

The new, right way to overcome it is to let Nujol induce easy self-cleansing.

And since health is as much a matter of how we eliminate waste as how we assimilate food-fuel, it must become evident to every thinking person that the use of a natural, drugless lubricant is as sensible and necessary as the eating of pure, wholesome food.

The three vital processes upon which health is based are Mastication, Assimilation, Elimination.

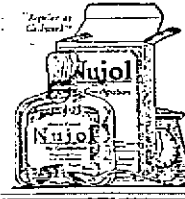

Therefore, the perfect recipe for health is thorough Mastication; Pure, wholesome Food, and Nujol.

Try this triunity. Get a bottle of Nujol from your druggist today.

For valuable health booklet—"Thirty Feet of Danger"—Free, write Nujol Laboratories, Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey) 50 Broadway, N. Y.

Warning: Nujol is a vegetable oil, not a mineral oil. It is not a laxative. It is a natural, drugless lubricant. It is not a medicine. It is a health food.

WHAT of tomorrow?" is the problem of every thinking man and woman.

Yesterday is PAST—Today is HERE—Tomorrow comes the reckoning.

Young men and women do not want an education that fails to solve the problem of "making a living"—of attaining happiness in life. A storehouse of knowledge is of no value if it fails to provide a livelihood. Of what use is it if it has no practical application to business affairs—if it cannot be turned to good use in the necessary affairs of life?

The proper business education chooses and teaches those facts ESSENTIAL and USEFUL to the daily life of those who acquire it. One who will master our course and then diligently apply it to the best advantage and to the interest of the business with which engaged has the keynote to practical education that CANNOT and WILL NOT fail so long as the learner has ambition to succeed.

It will profit YOU to secure a business training in this practical and successful school of business.

ORIGIN OF HOME FOR AGED WOMEN

In the year 1882 Mrs. Wells A. Hutchins, mother of Mr. Wells A. Hutchins, Jr., of 1135 Second street advanced the idea of founding in Portsmouth a Home for Aged Women. She called a meeting of prominent women at the Hamilton Reading Room then on West Second and the result was the organization of the Home for Aged Women Association which still exists, and in 1922 will celebrate the 40th anniversary of organization.

Mrs. Hannah Curry was elected president, Mrs. F. E. Duffell, secretary and Mrs. Eselle Towell, treasurer. On the board of Managers were Mesdames W. H. Augie, O. C. McCall, George Helfenstein, Clay Newman, J. G. Reed, Irene Jordan, John K. Dube, W. A. Hutchins, J. P. Davis, Charles Stewart, Hannah Curry, George Johnson, Misses Thyrta Spry, Mary Damarin, Sue Reed, Dell Humes. Most of these good women have passed to the Great Beyond, where no doubt they are "prospering."

The Association now numbers, between five and ten hundred. The dues are $1.00 per year and just as much more as each member cares to give. Men are eligible to membership as well as women. It is the earnest desire of the management of the Home that the membership be increased until it reaches not only one thousand but many thousands of members at a dollar or more per year. This as an income each year, would put the worthy cause on a self supporting basis. As it is at present, donations days, rummage sales afternoon teas etc., are always in order as a means of adding to the constantly depleted treasury. The latest method to earn money for the Home is "Tag Day" Saturday September 13th 1919. All over the city, groups of gay and happy young girls in charge of their elders who belong to the management of the Home will appeal to everyone to "buy a tag at any price." So be ready one and all to "Give of your bounty, you who are strong."

Give of your bounty to those who bear the troubles of old age—those who Oh, you who bear no cross through the years. Whom joy and fortune exult. Laugh on in the sun, but pin on your coat.

Old Shoemaker Now Has Stomach as Good as New

Freed of Constipation and Indigestion by Dr. Parker's Treatment.

"When a person reaches the age of 45 the stomach is apt to be slower. But W. A. Martin, Parkersville, W. Va. tells a story interesting to old and young. 'For years I suffered from indigestion and constipation. After taking all kinds of medicines, I was told by a friend to try Dr. Parker's Treatment for Indigestion and Constipation, saying he would himself refund my dollar if it did not get relief. The first box gave the relief I had been hunting for years. I am no longer bothered with sour stomach, gas and foul breath, can eat any food although I am now 65 years old.' Get a box of Dr. Parker's Treatment of your druggist. Your doctor will be returned if it fails in your case.—Adv.

Neighbors Raised Howl

Residents on Offshore street near Seventh were on the "warpath" Monday night and Tuesday morning all because they had to close their windows this hot weather said windows being closed against the obnoxious odor caused by a dead dog killed Saturday evening.

The police station, City Service office, health officer, and street railway office were called in order to get the canine's dead body removed but at the city official's office it was said that the dog was killed by a street car and that the street railway company would have to remove it while the street railway company office claimed that an auto had killed the dog and that the city would have to remove the body.

Finally John Bennett, clerk of the Health Board was reached and he ordered the body removed this morning.

QUESTION OF WAR OR PEACE ISSUE IN HIS TOUR, WILSON TELLS AUDIENCE

Pleads Guilty To Charges

BISMARCK, N. D., Sept. 10.—President Wilson told a Bismarck audience today that the issue involved in his speech-making tour for the treaty was "a question of war or peace."

There was only one way in which peace could be maintained, he said, and that was by such a concert of nations as was proposed in the League of Nations.

Completing the first week of his tour, the president spoke in the Bismarck auditorium. It was the smallest hall in which he had yet spoken, seating about 1,500. It was filled. No other address was on Mr. Wilson's schedule for today.

Should the movement for world concert fail, the president said, the heart of mankind would be overwhelmed by a "despair" which would result in chaos.

"Men in despair don't construct governments," said he. "They destroy governments. If we stay out or if we qualify our acceptance in any way, then the world will say there can be no peace."

If the world were in disorder, asked the president, who would buy the wheat of the United States?

All the processes of international economic rehabilitation, he said, waited on a complete peace basis because the world was waiting, he continued; the great coal fields of Europe were not being worked to capacity and the whole industry of the world was "chilled."

"While we debate," he went on, "all the world is raging today. Why does America hesitate?" he declared there was no more danger of America staying out of the league eventually than of reversing all the other processes of her history. But it was the delay, he added, that was upsetting affairs everywhere.

Referring to proposals to separate the peace terms from the league covenant, Mr. Wilson said the covenant had been put first in the treaty because without it, the rest of the treaty would be worthless.

Replying to objections to Article 10 of the covenant, Mr. Wilson reiterated that the article had no binding force without the assent of the United States under the unanimous vote required for action.

"Unless it's our war," he continued, "we can't be dragged into a war without our consent. That's an open and shut proposition. It's the heart of the treaty. You have either got to take it or you have got to throw the world back into that old contest over land titles. There is no other way to quiet the world and if the world is not quieted, then America sooner or later will be drawn into the toils."

The president asked whether any one thought the United States could stay out of the league without being "hated" and intrigued against by the other nations. Should the American nation refuse to accept the treaty, he asserted, it would be in the position of repudiating its promises to those who fought the war and of saying it did not like what had been accomplished by its armed force. The people of Europe, said the president, "are in a revolutionary state of mind," and in danger of substituting one kind of autocracy for another.

REVOLT IN HONDURAS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—La Ceiba, on the north coast of Honduras, has been captured by the revolutionists opposing President Bertrand, who has placed the presidential powers in the hands of a cabinet. The rebels are reported within a few miles of Tegucigalpa, the Honduras capital, and there is fighting in the city.

The principal ports on the north coast La Ceiba, Tela and Amoa and probably Puerto Cortes, have fallen into the hands of the rebels. Americans at La Ceiba have appealed for protection and the U. S. S. Cleveland has been ordered to that port to see that Americans have protection of lives and property.

MRS. BOYER ISSUES STATEMENT ABOUT HEALTH BOARD TILT

Mrs. Oscar Boyer, whose tilt with board of health officials is told in another column, says that the only reason she attended the session of the board instead of her husband was that Mr. Boyer was tied up at the hour specified and was unable to look after the matter. Mrs. Boyer says the matter of the order of the plumbing inspector in reference to their property is in the hands of attorneys and upon their ruling will depend whether the order will be complied with. She insists that personal feeling against her by Inspector Watrous is back of the order, as she stated to the board of health and says that phase is also being considered.

Will Pave Gallia Pike

Indications are that the paving of Gallia street through Peckles addition, New Boston, will be completed this fall.

ADDITIONAL STATISTICS ON SERVICE DEPARTMENT

The following is another installment of the state examiner's report on the service department. Other installments will follow in The Times from day to day.

In connection with the statement of the director of service relative to the proposition made by the Bureau of Community Service to council, to the effect that they would take care of the parks and playgrounds if they were allowed an appropriation of $20,000 to equip the same, we desire to call the attention of the director to the provisions of Section 4923, G. O., which give him absolute control over such places. We further desire to state that it is his duty under the law to look after and supervise all work pertaining to the parks and playgrounds and neither council nor the Bureau of Community Service have the right to assume such responsibility. The director and his assistants are alone held responsible for the administration of the affairs of the service department, and no part of said authority can be delegated to or assumed by any other department or agency.

Prior to the time of the passage of ordinance No. 2425, authorizing the issuance of bonds for park purposes, negotiations were had with Emma Browne for the purchase of a strip of land at the corner of Twelfth and Hutchins streets, however, the affair ended in a disagreement as to the price to be paid, whereupon condemnation proceedings were instituted, the verdict of the court fixing the value of the said land at $2,500.00.

In order to pay Emma Browne the amount of the verdict as rendered by the court and, also, to pay the court costs in said case, council, through ordinance No. 2440, passed November 7, 1917, appropriated $2,575.62 for such purpose.

As indicated by the audit, it was disclosed that the following payment was made from said appropriation:

Feb. 23, 1918, J. G. Miller, City Solicitor, To pay amount of verdict in Browne condemnation case $2,500.00
To costs in said case 75.62
Warrant 003 $2,575.62

With the Browne land in its possession for use as a park it became necessary for council to pass an ordinance authorizing the improvement of said land and appropriating money for such purpose, which they did through ordinance No. 2533, passed August 7, 1918.

Through the provision of the said ordinance $500.00 was appropriated for such purpose.

At the time of audit, September 30, 1918, the following improvements had been made at Browne Park, as indicated by the following invoice:

Aug. 14, 1918, James McDonald, 207 ft. of walk at 20 cts. $37.40
25 ft. of curb at 40 10.00
48 ft. of drop curb and gutter at 50 cts. 24.00
For grading and hauling 40.00
Curb and gutter 22.00

Warrant 2003 $143.40

The following is a financial statement of the receipts and disbursements attendant upon the Park Improvement fund from the time of its origin to the time of our audit, September 30, 1918:

RECEIPTS		1917	1918
Source	Mar. 1-Dec. 31	Jan. 1-Sept. 30

Improvements			143.40
Reimbursements, Legal advertising and printing bonds			32.00
Total Disbursements		$136.48	$4,678.67
SUMMARY
Receipts, Mar. 1, 1917-Sept. 30, 1918		$33,500.00	$2,000.00
Disbursements, Mar. 1, 1917-Sept. 30, 1918			$4,678.67
Balance September 30, 1918			$20,821.33

The reimbursements are represented in a transfer of $120.63 through resolution No. 2755 passed December 21, 1917, and $33.00 through resolution No. 2701, passed September 1, 1918, the said amounts representing the costs of legal advertising, etc., of said fees, and paid from the general fund.

April 20, 1918, after advertising, a three room cottage, located at the corner of 12th and Hutchins streets, on land known as the "Browne Park", was sold to John Q. Adams for $200.00, the proceeds of the sale being placed directly to the credit of the sinking fund April 23, 1918.

PARKS

The city owns five parks located in the city as follows:

Name of Park	Location
Tracy	Ninth and Chillicothe streets
York	Chillicothe and Front street
Ransom	Robinson and 14th streets
Swearing	Robinson and 12th streets
Paving	12th and Hutchins streets

Of the above named parks, Tracy and York parks are used mostly as a recreational center for the children of the city, the city furnishing same with playground equipment.

The cleaning and upkeep of the parks is under the direct supervision of the director of service. During the summer months of 1917, the city employed two park policemen at a salary of $30.00 each per month, said salary being fixed through the provisions of ordinance No. 2522. The duties of such policemen were to police the parks, and to keep the same in a presentable condition. Owing to a lack of funds, the services of such employees were discontinued with during 1918, and at times when necessary required, the city laborers were detailed to the parks, in order to give them a general cleaning.

The director of service kept a time slip record of such employees, the same condition existing relative to the wages paid as existed in the street cleaning department, full particulars of which are set forth in detail under such sub-heading in the foregoing pages of this report.

The audit of the pay-rolls disclosed the payment of the following wages in the department of parks during the period covered by our audit, without proper provision being made therefor:

Date Paid	No.	Name of Employee	Worked paid by ord. of paid Due over-	per day Council	paid
June 14, 1918	1029	Newton Faulkner	4 1/2	$2.50 $1.75 $11.25	$7.83 $3.37
June 30, 1918	1070	John James	1	2.25 1.75 2.25	1.75 .50

In view of the facts as above stated, we are hereby rendering a finding for recovery against the above named parties in the amount set opposite their respective names, jointly with the director of service, and in favor of the city of Portsmouth.

GARBAGE

The garbage collection of the city is under the direct supervision of the director of service. In order to facilitate such collection the city has been divided into eight districts, the city employing a garbage collector for each district.

The citizens are requested to place their garbage in the alley, where it is possible to travel through the same, and when such passage is impossible they are allowed to place it on the curb in front of their houses. The garbage is gathered at each house about every fourth day and disposed of at one of the garbage dumps in the city.

Through the provisions of ordinance No. 2369, passed August 10, 1918, council provided for eleven garbage collectors and fixed the compensation of each at $3.00 per day, however, through the passage of ordinance No. 2408, March 20, 1918, the number of collectors was fixed at eight and the compensation was increased to $3.75 per day, the collectors being required to furnish their own outfit.

Under date of February 1, 1918, after advertising, bids were received and opened for the gathering and removal of garbage.

In accordance with the advertisement the city was divided into four districts, and proposals were accordingly received.

February 5, 1918, the board of control rejected all bids on the ground that they were irregular and above the estimate.

In addition to the eight regular garbage collectors, it became necessary on several occasions, to employ additional day laborers to assist in the work at the dumps, the service director, with the following exception, paying such men at a rate paid day laborers in other city departments, the same having been fixed by ordinance of council.

The audit disclosed the following overpayments in wages, due to the payment of wages in excess of the rate provided through ordinance of council:

Date paid	Wt. No.	Name of Employee	Worked paid by ord. of paid Due over-	per day Council	paid
Sept. 27, 1918	Geo. Monk	1 1/2	$2.00 $1.75 $2.25	$1.75 $1.07	.28
Sept. 30, 1918	2263	Geo. Monk	1 1/2	2.00 1.75 2.25	1.97 .28

Total finding for recovery—due to overpayment of wages . . . . .56

In view of the facts as above stated, we are hereby rendering a finding for the recovery against Geo. Monk, in the amount of 56 cents, jointly with Ralph Calvert, director of service, and in favor of the City of Portsmouth.

It will be noted in the foregoing report that ordinance No. 2438, was passed by council and signed by the mayor on March 20, 1918, thus making it become effective 30 days thereafter or on April 19, 1918.

In auditing the pay-roll vouchers of the garbage collectors it was found that the increase in salary granted under the said ordinance was paid from April 1st, although in accordance with the law such increase would not become effective until April 19, 1918.

The audit disclosed the payment of the following increase in wages to the garbage collectors under ordinance No. 2438, prior to the time the said ordinance became effective:

Date paid	Wt. No.	Name of collector	Worked paid by ord. of paid Due over-	per day Council	paid

HOW THEY STAND

Sugar Is On Sale

Thursday afternoon Mayor H. H. Kapp placed on sale the 25,000 pounds of granulated sugar provided early this year, which he bought several weeks ago in order to help relieve the city's wheat shortage. It is being distributed from the north room in the Turkey building where several business men have been busy watching the sugar come in ten pound lots.

Several hundred of Portsmouth city housewives were on hand getting their ten pounds shortly after the doors were opened for the distribution via the certificate system. They were welcomed at the mayor's office several days ago.

The year arrived at an opportune time as many women are busy cleaning their and seed it right at this time.

For Fall

This Store For Men Is Brimful Of Fall Haberdashery

Quality shirts in the latest patterns and colors. We can't describe these in print—you must see them with your own eyes.

New Silk Four-In-Hand And Bow Ties

In color tones that will put "pep" in your step.

Style in a Hat, as well as quality, are to be considered in buying your New Fall Hat. Back of our hats stand the pleasant reflection that you've got what you paid for—and more domestic and foreign makes.

Production 'Don't Change Your Husband'

An ARTCRAFT Picture

Cecil B. DeMille's New Artcraft Picture "Don't Change Your Husband" Unequaled for Beauty Novelty and Artistry.

It is probable that those who talk business and neglectful of his wife and family of "art" on the screen are not always exactly sure of their meaning. But no one, even the least conscious of what constitutes art, could fail to recognize something far beyond the ordinary in motion pictures in "Don't Change Your Husband" which is being presented at the Temple Theatre tonight. It is an Artcraft special picture produced by Cecil B. DeMille, which is in itself a guarantee of high quality. But even Mr. DeMille has outdone himself in this story.

The story is a new version of the familiar triangle—a lovely and romantic young wife, a husband immersed in business and neglectful of his wife and family, a devious, sleek and highly clever architect. The wife leaves her husband under the spell of the newcomer's romantic promises and lives to regret and go back to the man who was foolish enough to put business before everything else, but who meantime has reformed and become an immaculate as his ex-wife.

This is the bare outline—the delightful qualities are in the touches of beauty, oriental mysticism, charm of character and in every phase of the production.

A small but wonderfully selected cast, including Gloria Swanson, beautiful and charming, as tells the wife.

Going To Lawrence County. Game Prosecutor Frank H. Voorhes will go to Lawrence county tomorrow for the remainder of the week to investigate several cases of alleged violations of the fish and game laws in that section.

Many Dogs Caught. The campaign against undug dogs being waged by Gene Ketter, deputy sheriff and official dog catcher, is bringing good results. For he gathered in 16 dogs yesterday, which, added to the 11 he caught Monday, brings the total up to 27 canines that are now housed at the pound in the county barn.

The undug dogs remaining in the hands of the sheriff at auction, and from all indications there will be a big dog sale held the latter part of this week.

To Call Dockets Monday. The common pleas (criminal and civil) dockets will be called next Monday morning by Judge Thomas, and the court urges all attorneys of the local bar to be present in order that dates for the assignment of trials may be made agreeable to all concerned.

Jury cases will be assigned for trial starting on Sept. 22, when the petit jury reports for service.

Suit Settled. The suit of Charles H. Lockard against Thomas Swartzburg instituted several months ago to settle a dispute over a line between their farms on the West Side, was today settled and dismissed, the litigants dividing the expense of the case.

The compromise came about by a survey made of the premises in controversy and both sides accepting the result of the survey made by O. C. Dudditt for County Surveyor. Attorney Miller, Miller and Seurl for Lockard and Attorneys Hanson and Hanson for Swartzburg.

Granted Divorce. According to an entry filed for record in the office of the clerk of courts today Josephine Garvey has been granted a divorce from Henry E. Garvey and restored to her maiden name of Josephine Thomas. The case was heard several days ago by Judge Thomas who granted the decree on the ground of cruelty.

Serious Charges Against Wife. Alleging that his wife has brought into and kept in their home women of ill repute and made his home an abode of harlots and further charging her with infidelity and with assaulting and threatening to kill him, William B. McKenzie, an employee of the N. & W. shops, East Portsmouth, filed suit for a divorce in Common Pleas court today through Attorneys Blair & Blair against his wife, whom he married February 26, 1905.

In his bill of complaint McKenzie also alleges that the wife refused to cook his meals and, he asserts, she drove him from their home. Judge Thomas granted a temporary injunction restraining the defendant from disposing of any of their property pending the final hearing of the case. Mrs. McKenzie operates a taxi between this city and Nauvoo. The suit is being heard by Judge Thomas.

AS TO THE MATTER OF EXTRAS

It is to be hoped every tax-payer is prayerfully reading the report on the state examination of municipal affairs. It will give him a better understanding of how the law says a city shall be run and how it is not run in fact.

A large degree of the ills complained of is that officials take their positions without any knowledge of the duties thereof and make no effort to familiarize themselves therewith. Another reason is there is a looseness in handling public affairs that is not followed by the same official in private matter.

Take as an example of this the findings on the construction of the public comfort station. Throwing aside the odd figures the contract for construction was let at $5,000. So loose or ill considered were the plans for the structure, that alterations brought the cost for "extras" up to a thousand dollars more than the contract price.

The law says "extras" shall be provided for in written agreement, and it is a most wise provision, but in this case it was either ignored, or unknown.

The contractor in this instance is of good repute, so it is not to be idly assumed there was any overcharge by him, but the method pursued in regard to the extras was both illegal and works out an injustice to the contractor. For the examiner holds there was no warrant for payment to him for extras and enters a finding against him for the total amount thereof. As a legal assumption, but not a fair one, since he was justified in believing officials knew their duties and he would not think of looking up the law regarding them, in verbal agreement he was contracting with an individual and not the city and to that individual personally he should, according to the law, have looked for pay for his material and his service, while the city gets it for nothing. However, as the city has actually paid the bill, nothing is likely to come of the finding, but some day there will be serious trouble and individual loss through such practices, which are altogether common.

WHEN JOHNNIE CAME MARCHING HOME

NEW YORK has given the returning soldiers many a handsome welcome, but never anything equal to or like that which she extended to General John Joseph Pershing, Monday, when he came back home.

There were the usual reception committee of important dignitaries, numerous brass bands, marching hosts and cheering throngs of spectators. There was nothing in the form and substance to qualify the honor of the welcome, but somehow about it clung the air of pathos. The guest himself was thoughtful and here an air of impenetrable solemnity, while the very air seemed to whisper that in the multitude tears were near.

And why not, why should not thought come as to what this home-coming culmination meant, awakened memories of the awful drama, in which this quiet, earnest man was the central figure in so far as America was represented.

But better than two years ago he sailed away ahead of a mighty host of the brave and lusty youth of the land that were to follow him and under his command were to work wondrous deeds of valor and renown. But not all were to come back and many lie on the slopes of France's beautiful countryside with only a cross and a star to keep them vigil. This land has the glory of their achievements and the inspiration of their Great Sacrifice. No more shall we see their faces in the throngs out to make a holiday, no more shall their merry laugh ring about the home.

They sleep, they are dead. At rest they will be until the Archangel Gabriel shall trumpet them to appear before the Supreme Commander.

So for the living returning triumphant we have cheers and welcome, but for those who come not back love and sweet memory.

ROUNDING OUT THE WORK

THE building committee having in charge the construction of the county institution for the orphans and homeless, rounded out the details of an altogether creditable home by ordering the exterior walls shall be of Scioto county brick.

Scioto county manufactures a building brick, which none surpass in beauty, nor exceed in durability. So in these respects the taste and judgment of the committee was commendable, but there is another element in the choice that goes beyond either of these qualities and that is home, the just and fair vaunting of home, through pardonable pride in her productions. The children's home is advantageously located for observation as a point in the landscape. It will add something to the attractiveness thereof. It is well it should exploit to the world that it is a Scioto county institution, erected out of Scioto county products, a fact that will help the little ones sent to abide therein.

NOT POSSIBLE THE IMPOSSIBLE

TWO things that run parallel are criticisms of President Wilson and fault finding with the league of nations treaty.

This man says Wilson has done many things right as president, but he did not do that right; this other man says the league of nations idea is all right in idea, but there ought to be some changes and qualifications.

It is true enough that Wilson didn't take any senators to Paris with him, but what a blessing he did not, if they had muddled and fuddled around over there half as much and grotesquely as they have in Washington. If he had done the unheard of thing and taken Republican senators with him the Democratic members would have "kicked their heads off" and if he had taken Democratic the Republicans would have cut up more unseemly than they have, though that seems impossible.

The sum and substance is that when opposition talks about Wilson or the league of nations they are defining an impossibility. Mr. Wilson has had several things to do, millions wanted this thing done this way, other millions wanted it done that way. He couldn't please everybody and he did his best, which is all any man can do. May be that Shantung affair is all wrong, but the people who are grieved so over it know almost as much about the matter as they did about Article X, and that's considerably less than nothing.

Out of a most vexed and intricate condition and relationship has come the best possible. Neither President Wilson nor anyone else could have got the impossible therein.

THE WISHING PLANE

BY WILLIS WINTERS

Jack and Jane had a wonderful time playing with Rob and Ruth that day—so wonderful a time that when Willow Ann said she would have to leave for home that night, Rob and Ruth decided with Ladydear to stay longer. Mrs. Salter had fallen in love with Ladydear, too. I guess, and she urged Ladydear and Captain Brave to spend several days at her home. It was finally arranged that Captain Brave would take Willow Ann back to her home and couchback—bringing some extra clothes for the children and Ladydear with him.

The next day and the day following Ruth and Rob showed Jack and Jane all the places and things around the village that would interest the young folk. And after that came trips up the mountain—as far as the children could walk or ride in little wagons.

And then—right in the midst of their good times Ruth was taken sick—very, very sick. Ladydear, who had been a nurse, you know, tried to cure her, but the little girl's fever grew higher and she cried more and more with pain. The village doctor was called. He examined her and shook his head. "Quick help by the

Oh, Help!

Arizona Joe, the animal trainer and trainer, was telling an after dinner story.

"Old Bill had charge of the animal tent, and among his pets was a leopard. He was a bad leopard, too, and gave Bill no end of trouble. One day I went away to arrange some business. While I was having dinner a telegram was handed me. It read: 'The leopard has escaped. Prowling about town. What shall I do?'—Bill."

"Bill was one of those fellows who had to have explicit directions to do anything, even in an emergency. He was always afraid of making a mistake."

"Shoot him on the spot! I wired I forgot about the affair until about two hours later, when I returned to the hotel and another telegram was handed me. It proved to be from careful, conscientious Bill, and asked: 'Which spot?'"

SENATOR HENRY ASHURST

The ability to stick to a job is held up as one of the qualities that lead to success, but it was not that quality that brought Senator Henry Ashurst of Arizona to the senate. According to his own confession Senator Ashurst began his fight for a livelihood as a lumberjack and became successively cowboy clerk, cashier, newspaper reporter and lawyer before he was elected to the senate. Even now the Arizona senator displays a few cowboy traits—at least senatorial gossip has it that he is quick to offer to use his fists on occasions.

The Arizona senator was born at Wintemucca, Nevada, in 1875; studied law at the University of Michigan, 1903-1904, although he had been admitted to the Arizona bar in 1897; was admitted to practice in the U. S. supreme court 1908; was elected a member of the Arizona legislature, 1907, 1909, 1910, 1911, 1912, 1913, 1914, 1915, 1916, 1917, 1918, 1919, 1920, 1921, 1922, 1923, 1924, 1925, 1926, 1927, 1928, # AUSTRIA SIGNS PEACE TREATY

Rumania Withholds Signature

DID NOT SIGN TREATY
PARIS, Sept. 10.—The delegates of Rumania and Yugoslavia did not sign the Austrian treaty today because they are awaiting instructions from their governments, says the Havas agency. The supreme council, it adds, has given them until Saturday to make known their definite intentions.

ST. CATHARIN, Sept. 10.—(By the Associated Press).—President Clemenceau of the peace conference, Dr. Karl Renner, head of the Austrian peace delegation, the weather man and all the peace conference delegates were in the best of humor for the signing of the treaty with Austria here this morning.

The twelve mile automobile ride from Paris through the bright calm, warm autumn morning put all participating into a good mood for the simple ceremony which was singularly

PRESIDENT ON A LONG LEG OF TRIP

ON BOARD PRESIDENT WILSON'S SPECIAL TRAIN, Sept. 10.
President Wilson was heading due west today on one of the longest legs of his country-wide speaking tour for the peace treaty. Nearly the whole day was given over to travel, the only stop on his schedule being a short one at Minneapolis, North Dakota.

After his strenuous day in St. Paul and Minneapolis, Mr. Wilson arranged to sleep late while his special was speeding across the North Dakota plains. He made three addresses yesterday in the two cities of Minnesota and in order to protect his voice he spoke only a few words at the platform addresses at way stations.

The president was holding up well under the strain of his speaking schedule, but Dr. Grayson insisted that he take things as easy as possible.

Word of the approach of the presidential special had traveled ahead, however, and in many small towns, and even at country cross-roads, hundreds of people have been found since the trip began, waiting for a glimpse of the chief executive and Mrs. Wilson. They were out on the rear platform in most cases to wave at the crowds, and the president shook hands wherever a brief halt was made to change engines.

At one cross-road, just outside a little Minnesota town, more than 50 farmers had parked their horse-drawn automobiles near the track to see the train roll by.

PEACE TREATY WILL END REGIME OF BALANCE OF POWER--WILSON

MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 10.—Declaring that the peace treaty would end the regime of the balance of power, President Wilson told a crowd in the Minneapolis armory last night that the new world order set-up would be to the advantage of all nations rather than a few of the stronger.

The President's party motored over from St. Paul where he had spoken earlier in the day.

Under the old balance of power, said the President, the people nowhere dared speak out against autocracy or against the burden of armament. But now he continued, the people were awake and had determined that "if the government can't get together they will destroy the government."

Tired of Other Experiments
"The people of the world," said Mr. Wilson, "are tired of every other kind of experiment except the kind we're going to try. The world has turned a corner that it's not going to turn again."

To destroy autocratic power, Mr. Wilson continued, was the object of the war, yet he said, as an autocratic government as cruel as that of the Czar had been set up in Russia and the United States must see to it that there was no similar movement in the United States.

"We will break the control of no minority in the United States," he added, "I would as leave served one kind of an autocracy as another."

Another War in Offing
Mr. Wilson said another great war would come if there were no concerted movement to preserve peace under American leadership.

The President said the League of Nations provided for the destruction of autocratic power by admitting only self-governing nations to the League.

"Had you ever been told that before?" asked the President and there was a chorus of "yes" and "no's."

For another thing, continued the President, the treaty provided for substitute arbitration and discussion for force, and an "out-of-the-box" against autocratic breakers. The price of the world, he said, would thus be placed under constant international supervision.

Promises Disarmament
"The peace of the world is everybody's business," said Mr. Wilson, "and this is the first international document that has recognized the fact."

That there should be disarmament would come if there were no concerted movement to preserve peace under American leadership.

The President said the League of Nations provided for the destruction of autocratic power by admitting only self-governing nations to the League.

TRIUMPHAL CLIMAX OF WAR-TIME PARADES

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—General John J. Pershing at the head of the first division equipped as a fighting unit furnishing the triumphal climax of New York's war time parades, attracted hundreds of thousands of New Yorkers and out-of-town visitors to the narrow confines of Fifth avenue today.

Clocks hovering above the daily decorated avenue, threatening momentarily to add the discomfort of rain and the cold westerly wind failed to dampen the ardor of the spectators. Hours before time for the parade to start, found every transit line leading to Fifth avenue congested and the 6,000 policemen on duty early experienced difficulty in handling the throng.

The early rush of spectators resulted from police orders to clear Fifth avenue of all traffic at 9 o'clock and to stop subway and elevated trains a half hour later.

Unable to secure the release from quarantine of his own private mount, "Kilham" General Pershing selected "Captain," the finest horse of the police detachment, to carry him over the parade route, a ride of two hours and a half.

All the overseas equipment of the first division was brought to New York to appear in the spectacle, but the camouflage paint designs were removed to a large degree and gave way to a sombre gray. Similarly all divisional insignias were erased according to a war department order. Many of the animals in line had seen service and spectators could tell the rest from the old, scuffling to the service stripes on the harness of the old campaigning mules and horses.

PRESIDENT ASKED TO SECURE CONFERENCE WITH STEEL MAGNATES SOON

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 10.—President Wilson has been asked by representatives of the Union Steel Workers in session here, considering a strike for a more definite statement as to the possibility of an early conference being arranged between the heads of the United States Steel Corporation and the unions.

The conference here will remain in session 48 hours awaiting a reply before taking any action. It was not indicated what action would be taken if the union men considered the president's reply unfavorable.

Conditions in the steel industry were said to be becoming steadily worse and the union officers declared it would be impossible to restrain their men much longer.

NOTED LABOR LEADER DEAD

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—John Mitchell, former president of the United Mine Workers of America and one of the most widely known labor leaders in the United States died at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the Post Graduate hospital.

Mr. Mitchell was 49 years old. Although he underwent no operation ten days ago for the removal of gall stones his condition had been reported satisfactory and his death was unexpected.

With Mr. Mitchell when he died were his wife, daughter and son. Governor Smith, who had called to inquire about his condition, arrived a few minutes after he had breathed his last. It was said by his physician that Mr. Mitchell had fallen to rally from the effects of the operation.

FEDERAL CONTROL OF COAL MINES IS FAVORED

GLASGOW, Sept. 10.—By an overwhelming vote, the trades union congress at today's session adopted a resolution favoring the nationalization of the coal mines.

The motion, presented by Robert Smillie, the miners' leader, was carried by a vote of 4,178,000 against 37,100.

POLICEMEN ON STRIKE

BOSTON, Sept. 10.—After a night of disorder in several sections of the city, during which petty looting, street fighting and other games were common occurrences, the situation caused by the strike here last night of union policemen appeared to be under control of the authorities today. A large force of volunteers, including nearly 100 Harvard students and former athletes, started to patrol beats about the city and to assist the state and Metropolitan police detailed here.

LINEMEN'S STRIKE ENDS

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 10.—Clearance of obstructions between striking linemen of the Columbus Railway Power and Light Company and company officials yesterday resulted in the termination of the walk-out which has been in effect since August 5. Trolley men returned to work shortly after midnight last night, while the remainder of the strikers were on the job early this morning.

Representatives of the linemen in conference with the company officials signed a contract in which all points of issue were left to an arbitration board, formation of which will be completed within 10 days. Appointment of an arbitrator to represent the linemen is in the hands of a committee.

This State Telephone Company's linemen and operators at a similar meeting last night voted, however, to continue their strike which started four weeks ago.

Athletic Club Organizes

Russell White was elected president and Martin Boeg was chosen secretary-treasurer of the new Whitaker-Glossner Athletic club which was organized at a meeting held at the Good Fellowship club rooms last night.

The organization was formed for the sole purpose of promoting boxing exhibitions and will stage its first show here on Saturday, Sept. 20, when Walter "Doc" Stewart, of Wheeling, will meet Dave Sandoz, of Cincinnati, in a bout scheduled to go 10 rounds. Both these boys are big lights in the bantam weight division, both having engaged in many battles, and are certain to furnish an exciting go. Stewart is looked to box Cham-jon Johnny Kibane at Wheeling on Oct. 6 for the title.

In addition to the big event what will be put on at the Millbrook Park casino, 3 smaller preliminary scraps are being arranged, which gives assurance that the show will furnish plenty of entertainment for the lovers of the sport.

Positively the highest class attraction that has been staged at the Millbrook ball yard this season is on the program for next Sunday, when the Norwalk, semi-professional world's champions will be seen in action in a struggle with Gabe's All Stars.

The Norwalkers are coming with a guaranteed lineup which means that all their star performers must appear and participate in the contest in order to be entitled to the big purse of iron money Manager Gableman has hung up as an inducement to get them here.

Bob Treatman, one of the crack pitchers of the country, will probably be on the firing line for the visitors with Red Simpson, an old Portsmouth favorite, behind the bat.

This contest will no doubt, test the mettle of the All Stars and they will be forced to the limit of their ability to cop this one gone without the saying.

While Oscar Delatelle, local twirler, who went great guns for the Melrose team in the Three I League this season, is suffering from a lame arm, he may get in shape by Sunday to zip them across for the locals and Chuck McDaniel's is expected home in time to perform behind the bat. Delatelle is a hitting kid and even though he does not pick he will likely be put in the lineup for his ability to swing the old apple and in order to give his many admirers a chance to see him perform.

Manager Gableman is busy trying to arrange a preliminary game as an added attraction to the main show and in an effort to give his constituents another entire afternoon of fine sport. Two first local amateur teams will likely be secured to clash in the opener and it may be the Spiders, will be pitted against Fred Eberfeld's Rosemount Stars.

Manager William N. Guberman, of the local team, stated today that the crack Norwood team, which plays here Sunday will receive one of the biggest guarantees ever paid a team brought to Portsmouth. "I realize that local fans want the real thing but the way of opposition to the All Stars and that is why I booked Norwood. The team should draw a crowd of no less than 1,500 Sunday."

The Cincinnati management has received permission to close York street during the world series. This will mean 3,000 additional seats for the Redland park. Other changes are to be made and it is hoped that the seating capacity may be increased to 30,000.

TOLEDO, O., Sept. 10.—The Toledo American Association club and the New York Giants of the National League will play an exhibition game here on September 17, according to a statement today by Roger Bresnahan, president of the Toledo club. The game was booked with the understanding that in case of rain on September 17 when the Giants are playing at Cincinnati, the game here will be called.

The Reds lost half a game by being beaten by the Phils yesterday as the Giants secured an even break with the Cubs after dropping the first game. The Reds have 14 more games to play before the curtain drops.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Sept. 16.—Columbia defeated Atlantic 6 to 2 Tuesday in the opening game of the Post-Season series between the pennant winners of the South Atlantic and Southern Association.

Col. Simmons Is Worthy Successor To Washington

Mr. John W. Evans,
Dear Sir:
We are pleased to learn that Col. Simmons will deliver lectures here on the 12th inst. under the auspices of your club.
Booker T. Washington left no successor, but his nephew is a worthy follower in his work for the uplift of his race and the elevation of American citizenship.
Aside from the immediate out-look for which he comes this time, which certainly worthy of our support and encouragement, his ability as a platform orator makes him well worth the journey.

We anticipate both entertainment and profit from his lecture.

Very truly yours,
G. W. M. Osborn, Rev. Charles Chandler, Geo. D. Selby, Irving Dyer and Frank Appel, Supt. of Public Schools.

Sugar Is On Sale

Tuesday afternoon Mayor H. H. K. played on sale the 35,000 pounds of granulated sugar received early in the day, which he bought several weeks ago in order to help relieve the sugar shortage. It is being distributed from the north room in the City building where several businesses have been busy weighing the sugar in ten pound lots.

Several hundred of Portsmouth buy non-weighs were on hand for their ten pounds shortly after the doors were opened for the distribution of the certificate system. They were lined up at the mayor's office several days ago.

The sugar arrived at an opportune time as many women are busy baking bread and need it right at

AS TO THE MATTER OF EXTRAS

It is to be hoped every taxpayer is prayerfully reading the report on the state examination of municipal affairs. It will give him a better understanding of how the law says a city shall be run and how it is not run in fact.

A large degree of the ills complained of is that officials take their positions without any knowledge of the duties thereof and make no effort to familiarize themselves therewith. Another reason is there is a looseness in handling public affairs that is not followed by the same official in private matter.

Take as an example of this the findings on the construction of the public comfort station. Throwing aside the odd figures the contract for construction was let at $3,000. So loose or ill considered were the plans for the structure, that alterations brought the cost for "extras" up to a thousand dollars more than the contract price.

The law says "extras" shall be provided for in written agreement, and it is a most wise provision, but in this case it was either ignored, or unknown.

The contractor in this instance is of good repute, so it is not to be idly assumed there was any overcharge by him, but the method pursued in regard to the extras was both illegal and works out an injustice to the contractor. For the examiner holds there was no warrant for payment to him for extras and enters a finding against him for the total amount thereof. As a legal assumption, but not a fair one, since he was justified in believing officials knew their duties and he would not think of looking up the law regarding them, in verbal agreement he was contracting with an individual and not the city and to that individual personally he should, according to the law, have looked for pay for his material and his service, while the city gets it for nothing. However, as the city has actually paid the bill, nothing is likely to come of the finding, but some day there will be serious trouble and individual loss through such practices, which are altogether common.

WHEN JOHNNIE CAME MARCHING HOME

NEW YORK has given the returning soldiers many a handsome welcome, but never anything equal to or like that which she extended to General John Joseph Pershing, Monday, when he came back home.

There were the usual reception committee of important dignitaries, numerous brass bands, marching hosts and cheering throngs of spectators. There was nothing in the form and substance to qualify the honor of the welcome, but somehow about it clung the air of pathos. The guest himself was thoughtful and bore an air of impenetrable soberness, while the very air seemed to whisper that in the multitude tears were near.

And why not, why should not thought come as to what this home-coming culmination meant, awakened memories of the awful drama, in which this quiet, earnest man was the central figure in so far as America was represented.

But better than two years ago he sailed away ahead of a mighty host of the brave and lusty youth of the land that were to follow him and under his command were to work wondrous deeds of valor and renown. But not all were to come back and many lie on the slopes of France's beautiful countryside with only a cross and a star to keep them vigil. This land has the glory of their achievements and the inspiration of their Great Sacrifice. No more shall we see their faces in the throngs out to make a holiday, no more shall their merry laughter ring about the house.

They sleep, they are dead. At rest they will be until the Archangel Michael shall trumpet them to appear before the Supreme Commander.

So for the living returning triumphant we have cheers and welcome, but for those who come not back love and sweet memory.

ROUNDING OUT THE WORK

THE building committee having in charge the construction of the county institution for the orphans and homeless, rounded out the details of an altogether creditable home by ordering the exterior walls shall be of Scioto county brick.

Scioto county manufactures a building brick, which none surpass in beauty, nor exceed in durability. So in these respects the taste and judgment of the committee was commendable, but there is another element in the choice that goes beyond either of these qualities and that is home, the just and fair vanities of home, through pardonable pride in her productions. The children's home is advantageously located for observation as a point in the landscape. It will add something to the attractiveness thereof. It is well it should exploit to the world that it is a Scioto county institution, erected out of Scioto county products, a fact that will help the little ones sent to abide therein.

NOT POSSIBLE THE IMPOSSIBLE

TWO things that run parallel are criticisms of President Wilson and fault finding with the league of nations treaty. This man says Wilson has done many things right as president, but he did not do that right; this other man says the league of nations idea is all right in idea, but there ought to be some changes and qualifications.

It is true enough that Wilson didn't take any senators to Paris with him, but what a blessing he did not, if they had muddled and fiddled around over there half as much and grotesquely as they have in Washington, if he had done the unheard of thing and taken Republican senators with him the Democratic members would have "kicked their heads off" and if he had taken Democratic the Republicans would have cut up more unseemly than they have, though that seems impossible.

The sum and substance is that when opposition talks about Wilson or the league of nations they are defining an impossibility. Mr. Wilson has had several things to do, millions wanted this thing done this way, other millions wanted it done that way. He couldn't please everybody and he did his best, which is all any man can do. May be that Shantung affair is all wrong, but the people who are grieved so over it know almost as much about the matter as they did about Article X, and that's considerably less than nothing.

Out of a most vexed and intricate condition and relationship has come the best possible. Neither President Wilson nor anyone else could have got the impossible therein.

THE WISHING PLANE

Jack and Jane had a wonderful time playing with Rob and Ruth that day—so wonderful a time that when Widow Ann said she would have to leave for home that night, Rob and Ruth pleaded with Ladydear to stay longer. Mrs. Salter had fallen in love with Ladydear, too, I guess, and she urged Ladydear and Captain Brave to spend several days at her home. It was finally arranged that Captain Brave would take Widow Ann back to her home and come back—bringing some extra clothes for the children and Ladydear with him.

The next day and the day following Ruth and Rob showed Jack and Jane all the places and things around the village that would interest the young folks. And after that came trips up the mountains—as far as the children could walk or ride in little wagons.

And then—right in the midst of their good times Ruth was taken sick—very, very sick. Ladydear, who had been a nurse, you know—tried to cure her, but the little girl's fever grew higher and she cried more and more with pain. The village doctor was called. He examined her and shook his head. "Quick help by the doctors in the hospital at Lucerne might save her, but she couldn't stand the long, bumpy journey over the roads to the hospital," said the doctor. "The doctor, of course, didn't think about the wishing plane. Captain Brave did. "Ladydear, help Mrs. Salter get Ruth ready for the trip to the hospital while I fix a place for her in the plane," said Captain Brave. "Thank you," said the doctor, and stepped out of the chaper. He hurried over to the airplane and entered the little room in the boat part of the plane where Jack and Jane and Ladydear slept during the night trips in the plane. He pulled Jane's little bed out from the side of the boat, where it was kept folded up, and arranged the covers on it. Then he opened the little windows in the room and opened up some folding chairs for Mrs. Salter, Ladydear and the doctor. By the time he had made everything ready the doctor arrived at the machine with Ruth in his arms. He lifted her over the side of the plane to Captain Brave, who laid her on the bed and covered her.

"I guess you ought to leave Rob and Jack and Jane here with someone, didn't we?" asked Mrs. Salter. "No, bring them along if the plane will hold them," said the doctor. "It'll hold them better than I want someone to talk to and play quiet games with until she is well again."

So Rob and Jack and Jane climbed into the plane with the doctor and Mrs. Salter and Ladydear. The doctor, Ladydear, Mrs. Salter and Jane went into the little room with Ruth which had about filled the room. So Rob and Jack climbed up the ladder to the seat alongside Captain Brave and watched him start the motor and send the plane into the air. He looked at his map to locate Lucerne, and then headed for that city, turning all the power the big plane had into the motor.

handed me. It read: "The leopard has escaped. Prowling about town. What shall I do?" "Bill," said one of these fellows who had to have explicit directions to do anything, even in an emergency. He was always afraid of making a mistake. "Shoot him on the spot," I wired. I forgot about the affair until about two hours later, when I returned to the hotel and another telegram was handed me. It proved to be from a careful, conscientious Bill, and asked: "Which spot?" To Err Is Woman When the husband returned unexpectedly from his journey, he saw his

The ability to stick to a job is held up as one of the qualities that lead to success, but it was not that quality that brought Senator Henry Ashurst of Arizona to the senate. According to his own confession Senator Ashurst began his fight for a livelihood as a lumberjack and became successively cowboy clerk, cashier, newspaper reporter and lawyer before he was elected to the senate. Even now the Arizona senator displays a few cowboy traits—at least, senatorial gossip has it that he is quick to offer to use his fists on occasions.

The Arizona colon was born at Winnemucca, Nevada, in 1853; studied law at the University of Michigan, 1905-1901, although he had been admitted to the Arizona bar in 1897; was admitted to practice in the U. S. supreme court 1908; was elected a member of the Arizona legislature, 1897, 1899, 1903, speaker, 1899, said to be the youngest man ever to have held such a position in the United States; was elected senator from Arizona in 1911 and re-elected in 1917.

best friend going out of the back door with his wife.

"You came too soon," said his best friend. "You should have waited. We did not look for you."

"I heard," said the husband, "that there was another man making love to my wife here, and I hurried home for the purpose of dealing with him."

"You forgot," said his best friend, "that I was here to protect you. Knowing that the other man was making love to her, I was forced to cut him out."

"And you succeeded?"

"Certainly. Am I not your best friend?"

The husband reflected for some time. At last he said:

"Yes, I see. As long as my wife is this kind of a woman, she would eventually have gone off with some one, anyway. And as my best friend, you thought it was better that it should be done right."

"Exactly."

"The husband turned to his wife. "Is this true?" he asked.

"Yes."

"Well, that being the case, you may go."

At this the best friend smiled.

"The real trouble with you," he said to the wife, "is that you didn't make love to me first. Then you wouldn't have had to go."

A Garden Colloquy
Said the twilight wind to the rose.
As he pined in the garden gray:
"O rose of the June, you pass.
But I have an endless day."

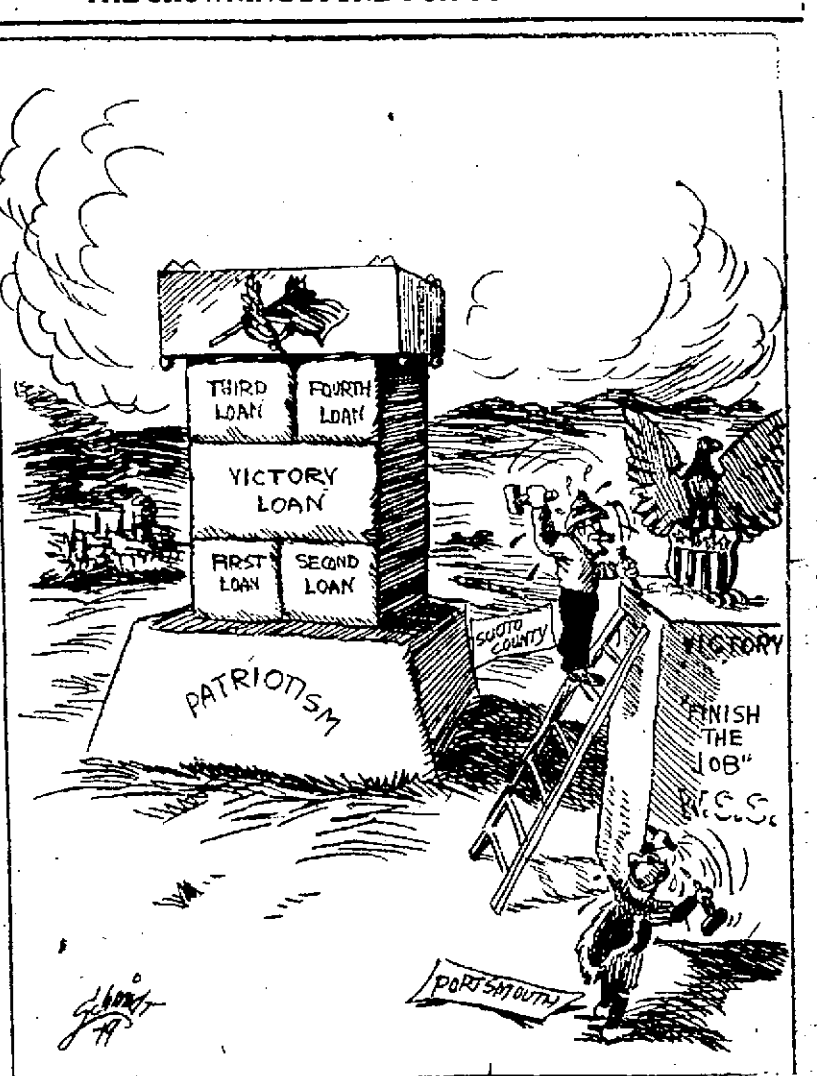

In the lush of the autumn night,
In the dark of the autumn dawn,
Come to your garden haunt
To find you forever gone."

Said the rose to the twilight wind:
As he pined in the garden still:
"O wind of the hills, my day
Is the gift of a holy will."

"He gives unto each the same,
A measure of joy and grief;
And yours is the gift of years,
Mine of a summer brief!"

THE CROWNING STONE FOR OUR MONUMENT

New York Day - By - Day

BY O. O. MCINTYRE

NEW YORK, Sept. 10—
I was with my wife.
In one corner of a cafe.
With an expensive name.
Down on Broadway.
And I looked over.
And saw a man.
In another corner.
And I knew his face.
But couldn't think.
Of his name.
But when my wife.
Spoke to me sharply.
About the noise I was making.
Crunching my celery.
It just occurred to me.
That the man over there.
Used to be my chief.

And I went to him over.
And asked for a ride.
And you would have thought.
I was breaking up his home.
The way he went on.
But finally he decided.
That he would raise me $2.
Making it $11 per week.
Well at any rate.
Here was I in a swell cafe.
With a new suit of clothes.
And my wife all dressed up.
Well you know how it is.
I decided I'd go over.
And show off a little.
So I waited awhile.
For the orchestra to stop.
And I straightened up.
Fixed my necktie.
And cleared my throat.
And walked across the room.
Like John Drew.
After spinning the gold.
And about half way across.
I fell over a lap dog.
That ran from under a table.
And when I got up.
Everybody was snickering.
But I kept right on.
And stood by the table.
And announced who I was.
And he got up and shook hands.
And while we talked.
I rested my hand.
On the table.
And it kept getting hotter.
Until I looked down.
And saw my fingers.
Were clanging.
In the lady's soup.
